

Tando Tuts on Thursday

Step by Step Tando Large Media Board with

Fiona Randall.

Getting Inky with Paper Artsy Infusions -Desert Sands and Pink Ink Designs
Stamp Set- Bee-Utiful.

Step 1.

Grab your large Tando Media Board. Using a Tando Grey board sheet cut a piece using a craft knife measuring 2x3 inches and set aside for later.

Step 2.

Spritz a piece of 300gsm cardstock with water and then sprinkle on Paper Artsy Infusions in Golden Sands. Spritz with more water to further activate the crystals and whilst still wet dab excess with paper towel to create interesting texture and to help blend. Dry with a heat tool.

Step 3.

This is how the cardstock looks when fully dry.

Step 4.

Flip cardstock over and draw around the large media board and small grey board piece and cut out.

Step 5.

Place the cardstock in a stamp platform then attach the small piece of cardstock on top using a glue dot to secure in place temporarily for stamping.

Step 6.

Position the Bee stamp from Pink Ink Designs so the body covers the small piece of cardstock. Then stamp with Versafine Clair in Acorn. It doesn't matter at this stage if parts of the stamp are missing as this will be rectified in the next step.

Step 7.

Remove the small piece of card you stamped in the previous step. Then ink up the stamp again and stamp. This is the beauty of the stamp platform as if you miss stamp you can just stamp again comfortably knowing the image will be in the right place.

Step 8.

Glue the cardstock to the grey board bases and then sand the edges with a sanding block to give a nice distressed uniform edging.

Step 9.

On a piece of DuraLar heat resistant acetate stamp the wings using black stazon ink and dry with a heat tool to set.

Step 10.

Using a quickie glue pen and on the reverse side colour in the wings and sprinkle on DecoArt Glamour Dust Glitter in Crystal. When dry cut out the wings as shown below.

Step 11.

Stamp the sentiment from the stamp set onto a piece of your leftover inky card with versafine clair ink in acorn. Attach to a piece of grey board and sand the edges to distress as before.

Stamp out the bee again onto a piece of your leftover inky cardstock and cut out the body.

Step 12.

Attach an offcut of grey board to the small stamped board and glue in position on top of the large media board. Do the same with the sentiment. Glue the wings in place as shown.

Step 13.

Finally Stamp the crown from the stamp set as shown above the Bee. Then attach the body using a couple of foam pads to give depth and dimension to finish. I hope you have enjoyed the process. Thank You.
